EUROPE

We welcome you to explore Europe, a truly enchanting destination full of history, iconic cities, epic monuments and awe-inspiring natural beauty.

From the glittering Mediterranean to medieval Spain and Portugal, the heart of the Bordeaux region, to the majestic Baltic and Northern Isles, there's no better way to experience it all than onboard a European cruise.

When to go

Before you choose your ultimate European cruise holiday, there are a number of things you will need to consider. What is your budget? Which countries or cities do you want to see? What do you want to do whilst you are there? The answers to these questions will play an important part of the decision making process as should the weather.

Currency

When travelling through Europe, we recommend you carry a small amount of local currency as part of your spending money. This will come in handy for entry fees to museums or national monuments, souvenirs or food. We recommend you exchange money prior to departure in Australia or ask for a recommended local foreign exchange office close to your hotel on arrival.

Paying by credit card is an obvious choice for big ticket items such as flights, accommodation or car hire. In all situations, take care with your funds and if you are paying with your credit card – always keep it in sight during the payment process. From a security perspective we suggest you notify your bank prior to departure that you will be using your card overseas.

TOP PLACES TO

BARCELONA, SPAIN

Barcelona is Spain's second largest city, with a population of over two million people, and the capital of Catalonia. A major port located on the north-eastern Mediterranean coast of Spain, Barcelona has a wide variety of attractions that bring in tourists from across the globe. The many faces of Barcelona include the medieval Old Town, and the unique street grid resulting from 19th-century urban planning. The city has long sandy beaches and green parks on the hills, pretty much side-by-side. It is also famous for a number of prominent buildings, of which the most-known are by the architect Antonio Gaudi, including his Sagrada Família, which became Barcelona's symbol to many and after 135 years, is still yet to be completed.

COPENHAGEN, DENMARK

A million Danes call Copenhagen home, including Australia's own, Princess Mary. This "friendly old girl of a town" is big enough to be a metropolis with shopping, culture and excellent nightlife, but still small enough to be intimate and easy to navigate. Overlooking the Øresund strait with Sweden just minutes away, Copenhagen is a cultural and geographic link between mainland Europe and Scandinavia. This is where old fairy tales blend with flashy new architecture. A visit to The Little Mermaid and Tivoli Gardens is a must.

DUBROVNIK, CROATIA

Dubrovnik is a stunning walled city on the Adriatic Sea at the South of Croatia. Although its population barely exceeds 40,000, it's one of the most prominent tourist resorts of the Mediterranean and has been listed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site since 1979. Regardless of whether you are visiting Dubrovnik for the first time or the hundredth, the sense of awe never fails to descend when you set eyes on the beauty of the old town. It's hard to imagine anyone becoming jaded by the city's white limestone streets, baroque buildings and the endless shimmer of the Adriatic.

LISBON, PORTUGAL

Lisbon is a city full of authenticity, where old customs and ancient history intermix with cultural entertainment and hi-tech innovation. A historical city full of stories to tell, where the sun shines 290 days a year and the temperature rarely drops below 15 degrees. A city where you can feel safe wandering around day or night, where the cuisine is dedicated to creating over a thousand ways to cook the beloved bacalhau (salted cod), and where you'll find hotels and restaurants to suit every taste and budget.

LONDON, ENGLAND

England is full of pageantry and tradition, and nowhere else is that on display so vividly than in London. Old and new combine to provide a tapestry of fine art, culture, music, attractions and an extensive royal history that continues to this day. Each year, millions of tourists visit London to experience its modern-day renaissance, whether taking in the new look of the South Bank or heading out to newly hot neighbourhoods, and no matter the time of year, a London trip brings a taste of bustling city life.

VISIT IN EUROPE

REYKJAVIK, ICELAND

Reykjavik is the capital and largest city of Iceland. With an urban area population of around 200,000, the vast majority of Iceland's inhabitants live here. It is the centre of culture and life of the Icelandic people as well as being one of the focal points of tourism in Iceland. The city itself is spread out, with suburbs sprawling outwards from the confined city centre. The city centre is a small area characterized by beautiful, colourful houses co-located with good shopping, dining, and drinking. Many breathtaking sights are contained within The Golden Circle – a short trip from the city – including Þingvellir (Thingvellir) National Park, Geysir hot spring area and Gullfoss waterfall.

SANTORINI, GREECE

Santorini is a beautiful picturesque island in Greece, only 200km from the Greek mainland in the Cyclades group of islands, with white washed villages set amidst a natural volcanic backdrop. The island's stunning landscape includes the blue domed churches in Pyrgos and the azure blue waters of the Aegean Sea. The beautiful beaches have volcanic sands and are often lined with traditional Greek tavernas and restaurants. Visitors to the Greek Islands should ensure their itineraries include a stay at this popular Greek isle, where you'll be able to discover the fascinating secrets of one the Mediterranean's finest island escapes.

STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN

Stockholm is a city of contrasts. Trendy bars and world-class restaurants are shoulder-to-shoulder with historic cafés and cozy neighbourhood pubs. This is a city of modern galleries and exclusive department stores, as well as small boutiques and unique shops. Stages and arenas attract Swedish and international stars. Events and festivals fill the city's public spaces and beautiful outer suburbs. Stockholm is simultaneously urban and close to nature; water is an ever-present feature in this city, where lakes and the sea meet. Parks and green areas abound, and distinctive white boats travel to the islands all year long. The atmosphere is open and welcoming making Stockholm a city for everyone.

ST PETERSBURG, RUSSIA

On the Neva River, Saint Petersburg (known for 66 years as Leningrad during Communist rule) is the second largest city in Russia and arguably its most breathtaking. Peter the Great, envisioned his imperial capital as a window into Europe, and it has long been a centre of culture and sophistication, with some of the world's best art, ballet and architecture. The Soviet years were hard on the city, and its ties with Europe were cause for suspicion—and neglect. Ever since native son Vladimir Putin took office, however, the city has been getting a face-lift. Streets are newly landscaped, and a $2 billion refurbishment of the urban centre has created a fabulous backdrop for the city's nouveau-riche residents and visitors who are luckily enough to visit.

VENICE, ITALY

Venice, the capital of northern Italy's Veneto region, is built on more than 100 small islands in a lagoon in the Adriatic Sea. It has no roads, just canals – including the Grand Canal thoroughfare – lined with Renaissance and Gothic palaces. The central square, Piazza San Marco, contains St. Mark's Basilica, which is tiled with Byzantine mosaics, and the Campanile bell tower offering views of the city's red roofs. Venice used to be an independent republic, and remains one of Italy's most important cities. This sanctuary on a lagoon is virtually the same as it was six hundred years ago, which adds to the fascinating character.
